Mountain View House.

Here is situated a hotel of rare attractiveness in beautiful location for summer boarders and at the same time in close proximity to the best places for fishing on Rangeley Lake. Hunters in the season also find plenty of deer, partridge and woodcock near the hotel. The cuisine here is such as to hold patrons while, and the rooms are what people from the cities like, large, well lighted and pleasant. We serve vegetables, berries, fish and game at appropriate times in the year and the table is always supplied with excellent fresh milk and cream. Pure water runs to the house from a spring above. This is a particularly good place for safe and pleasant boating and the drives and walks are unsurpassed. Croquet and lawn tennis grounds adjoin the house. Write for a free circular to

L. E. ROWLEY, Mountain View House,

A BEAVER TALE.

What of "Black Edward"? Just one word's enough.
His heart's as tender as his tales are "tuff."

YOU see it's this way. A visit to the Rangeley Lake region without a little run up to Beaver Pond is as rank a failure as half a pair of scissors, or the hole of a doughnut with the dough gone. Yes, "Going up to Ed's" is like smoking opium, lying, or "wasting"—it grows upon you, and the man who once sees his happy foot on the shores of old "Beaver" is as certain to return as—as well as a punched "quarter."

What do you do when you get there? Most people fish, others tramp those glorious old trails and just soak their hearts and minds in the delights of mountain, lake and forest; for at Ed's, remember, we're in the sure-enough backwoods.

Now as to the fishing, a word or two. Guides talk, notwithstanding, I have never yet found 5 and 10-pound trout plenty enough to be monotonous—never have, but the reasonable man with a fair idea of the proper dissemination of "feathers"—it he chance also to be a true sportsman, could ask nothing better.

Within easy reach of Ed's doors lie (even nature "lies" up there—I wonder why?), 5 or 6 lakes in which the fly fishing is simply "great," and I say this after having fished every dam spot in that region many times.

Take "Ell Pond," for instance, around the "bend among the pines," or "Little Island" with a gentle ripple about sundown. Such incessant "rise" and such a run of fish marks that charming little pond as the acme of fly fishing possibilities.

What is there for the "Man behind the gun," up there? Simply this. In the open season he can easily get all the deer the law allows him, and will also find "Ruffed Grouse" (i. e. "Partridge") in abundance. With Moose, Bear and Caribou the case is that of those 5 and 10-pound trout, they do not actually "hang around the door yards."

What is there for the "Beaver Pond?"—thus. The total of 27 miles from Rangeley Village is now covered by buckboard to Kennebec Lake, thence by steamer down that beautiful sheet of water, a very pleasant break in the journey, thence by buckboard again, direct to Ed's Camps on Beaver Pond. The roads already good are constantly being bettered, and ladies and children can now with perfect comfort make a journey that once meant miles of rough and tollsome tramping.

At the Camps the accommodations leave nothing to be desired by those who realize that this is the "Backwoods" and not "Broadway." The cabins are clean, roomy, and thoroughly comfortable, beds and table excellent, and most of the food at least eatable while the proprietor—i. e. the "Old Man," is a happy combination of kindness and pleasing fiction.

The first step for those who would like to see for themselves how much actual truth there is in all of the above, is to address ED GRANT & SON, Beaver Pond, Maine, and then "wait til something drops."

RANGELEY LAKE HOUSE.

[Special correspondence to the Maine Woods.]

RANGELEY LAKE HOUSE,
RANGELEY, MAINE,
July 23, 1902

The golf season is on and the only thing needed now to get the local golf club into excellent working order is the right kind of weather. The golfers are here, their clubs and their enthusiasm for the sport, but it has been raining often enough to dampen the ardor of anybody. There are, however, "prospects" that the weather will be just the thing from this date through the season. Mr. James B. Dill, the well-known New York attorney who is here for the season, is enthusiastic over the new through train service from New York to Portland, via Worcester. One reason why Mr. Dill is pleased at the change is the fact that he now gets his daily morning New York paper at the Rangeley Lake House, on the evening of the day that it is published. The quick mail service, with the fact that several hours of time is saved by the business man who goes by the new route, will result in giving the new train a good business.

The guests here have been much interested in the work of a family of robins that have had a nest under the hotel piazza all the spring. The nest was built on top of an open shutter. For weeks, since the little robins made their appearance there has been a great deal of activity in the vicinity of the bay window next to the casino and a great many quarts of Rangeley angelforms have been dropped into the mouths of these hungry little birds.

Tuesday evening the guests enjoyed a musical consisting of violin solos by Miss Elizabeth Swift of Wilmington, Del.; and vocal solos by Count DeLuca of Portland. The music was a great pleasure to all.

Last Sunday morning Bishop O'Connell of Portland assisted by Edward J. Moriarty of Concord, Mass., held mass at 6 o'clock.

Mr. F. E. Gilman and Miss Gilman of Montreal are here for a few weeks. Rev. Dr. Simpson of New York is a guest of Mr. J. B. Dill. Mr. Dill and Mr. Simpson are at Kennebago for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hinds of Portland and Miss Ethel Hinds are to make quite a long stay here. Mr. Hinds is of the Hinds Honey and Almond Cream company.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Knott of New York, who have been staying here, have gone to Kennebago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. T. Richards, J. Ernest Richards and Miss Amy Richards of Philadelphia have arrived to spend the season here.

J. H. Clark of New York is to be here for a few weeks.

Mr. Geo. W. Southwick and son, A. G. Southwick came from Kennebago Sunday.

Mr. J. B. Dill has recently put a telephone into his cottage.

J. Ernest Richards and Morris E. Smith are here from the University of Pennsylvania. They are to visit Kennebago.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bliss of Chestnut Hill, Mass., stopped here on the way to their camp at Kennebago.

Frank P. Gibbs and S. G. Seligman from Tamaqua, Pa., are guests here.

MOOSELOOKMEGUNTIC HOUSE.

[Special correspondence to the MAINE WOODS.]

MOOSELOOKMEGUNTIC HOUSE,
HAINES LANDING, July 22, 1902.

The past week at Haines Landing has been one of activity in many respects and it seems to have been a banner week for the sportsman.

If Mr. Fred B. Dale of New York City and Mr. Fred E. Jones of Brookline, Mass., had been sportsmen who are easily discouraged, no doubt they would have ceased their fishing when it was said by another sportsman that the fishing was falling off. The above named sportsmen, upon the advice of their guide, Ansel Soule, remained a week longer than they first expected and made an excellent record, almost daily for nearly two weeks. They have each averaged about five daily that weighed from 3½ to 6 pounds each. Both Mr. Dale and Mr. Jones captured a 6-pound salmon, which gave them great sport before being landed.

The ladies have also been making the fishing interesting at Haines Landing this week as they have made some great catches. A few days ago Mrs. Baldwin of Arlington, Heights, Mass., went out and in a few minutes had captured a beautiful 5-pound salmon. The fish made a brave fight before being landed.

Another successful fisherwoman is Mrs. A. H. Seabury of Hempstead, N. Y., who is spending some time here with her husband, the well known attorney of the above city. She was also out only a short while with Ansel Soule as guide, before she had a strike, seemingly by a salmon [that would weigh 6 or 8 pounds, but after a brave fight of about twenty-five minutes she succeeded in landing it. It proved to be a 3½-pounder. Mr. and Mrs. Seabury expect to remain here a few days longer.

Mrs. Wm. E. Baxter of Boston, who is also spending the summer here captured her first fish a few days ago which weighed 3 pounds.

There have been several other good catches made during the week by some of the ladies who are stopping at the Mooselookmeguntic. Among them is Mrs. Seth L. Larrabee of Portland who most always gets fish when a trial is made.

The record breaking catch of the week was made Friday by Mr. Fred E. Jones of Brookline. His catch for the afternoon was three salmon that weighed 5, 5½ and 6 pounds. This is the prettiest catch that has been made here in one afternoon for some time. The big 6-pounder gave both Mr. Jones and his guide some great sport as he played him 45 minutes. Mr. Jones says the fishing is all right and he will fish every day while here.

The Mooselookmeguntic House is filling very fast now.

One of the new camps known as the Camp Maryland, which has just been finished, was taken the day after it was completed.

There are many prominent people sojourning at the Mooselookmeguntic House for a few weeks' stay.

Late arrivals are:

Mrs. J. A. Fuller, Nestor Fuller, New York City; J. W. White and wife, J. W. Leflamme, Rumford Falls; Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Snow, Mrs. Lucien Snow, Raynor Snow, C. D. Baccley, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Caldwell, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ambler, Philadelphia; Mrs. Paul Taylor Brown, Miss Marjorie Brown, Miss Eleanor Brown and nurse, Brooklyn; Lynn H. Nelson, Hon. Seth L. Larrabee, Lucia and Mrs. H. H. Redbouts, N. J.; Mr. N. Tasker, Miss M. R. Tasker, Miss G. Tasker, Miss M. Tasker, N. B. Tasker, East Orange, N. J.; Miss M. Caster, Mrs. J. D. Ross, Philadelphia; Chas. H. Olsen, Jamaica, B. W. Indies; Dr. H. Bisbee, Boston.

REDINGTON CAMPS.

[Special correspondence to the MAINE WOODS.]

REDINGTON, July 22, 1902.

Fly fishing here continues to be good and the guests are enjoying themselves just as much as is possible. The trout of this pond have been having a greedy spell and have taken the fly with eagerness.

When the guests become tired of fishing, they climb the mountains for the fine views, and then they have a season of rifle practice.

Dr. Heber Bishop of Boston arrived here Saturday night. He had the pleasure of rowing up to within a few yards of two large buck deer.

Arrivals at Redington Camps and Cottages for the week ending June 19:

"LOCH HAME"

SPRING LAKE PLEASURE.

One of the Prettiest Summer Homes on Rangeley Lakes.

Just Being Completed by W. M. Cunningham of Brooklyn.

"Loch Hame" is indeed a lake home rich in its furnishings and having all of the conveniences and comforts of city homes. It is pleasantly situated near the shore of Rangeley lake. It commands a fine view of the lake and mountains beyond. The plans of the cottages were designed by Mrs. Cunningham while Mr. Cunningham scaled them. The result was a set of cottages that can but help please everyone who inspects them.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham are both enthusiastic hunters and on the walls of a room in the main cottage hang souvenirs of hunts in different parts of the continent. Nothing is there that they did not shoot themselves.

On the floor are skins of animals from many different parts of the country. On the walls are the heads of four moose and eight deer. The largest moose head has twenty-one points and was shot by Mrs. Cunningham in Canada. The Adirondack deer have a representative there also. Near the door hangs a rattlesnake skin about seven feet long, shot about a mile from their home in Florida. A large collection of arrow heads, curiously engraved, which they collected on the gulf coast of Florida and which are relics of the Indians who formerly roamed those shores, is among other very interesting curiosities. The lamps are made from moose feet and the fireplace is large enough to burn wood four feet long.

Among the most interesting things are the two deer heads, side by side, which were shot by Mrs. Cunningham while the deer were in deadly combat with each other. It was on the St. John river in Quebec. Mrs. Cunningham and her guide were going down the river in a canoe and heard far ahead of them around a turn in the river, the clashing of horns and stamping of feet. As they made the curve they came upon them and Mrs. Cunningham fired killing one deer. The other buck was so taken up with his fight that he did not notice the approaching boat and as his antagonist went down he stopped to give him a few more strikes, just long enough to allow Mrs. Cunningham to reload her rifle. The next shot ended the fight.

Mr. Cunningham's daughter has a cottage by herself. The rooms are furnished in red and white; red burlap on the walls and a red carpet, with the trimmings of the room white. It is made very attractive for a child by its deep window seats and book cases. There is a cottage reserved for guests and its furnishings with hot and cold water, bathrooms and all modern conveniences are very inviting. A very pretty room is the green room, having green burlap on the wall and green carpet, with white trimmings. The piazzas are about 280 feet long and from 9 to 12 feet wide. There are six cottages in all. There is one for the guides, made of whole logs; a second one for guests, sheathed with spruce and with hard wood floors and a big fireplace. The dining room is sheathed in ash with hard wood floors.

Besides the above there is a fine stable with rooms up stairs for the coachman. In the stable are two Kentucky bred horses representing $1,250. The water supply is taken from springs on the side of the hill. Several small springs are made to unite and form a little stream constantly flowing past the cottage to the lake.

Recently Mrs. T. R. Murray and her two children of Boston have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham.

Moose In Madrid.

Hunters are waiting for open season on moose and they say that if the big bull that has been maneuvering around here for a while lately doesn't get out of the way by that time, someone will be feeding on moose meat. Solomon Dunham and others have seen the tracks of a big bull in town several times recently.

(Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.)

FLAGSTAFF, July 22, 1902.

Mr. John Moir and Master Arthur have returned to Boston after an enjoyable and fairly successful trip. The weather was not what good fishermen like all the time of their stay. Mr. Moir proved his skill with rod and reel during the whole time, besides having some unusually fine opportunities to catch good pictures at Grand falls. Among them were several different views of a moose in the water but a few feet from the canoe. They carried home a handsome string of fish, one weighing 7 1/2 pounds captured but a few hours before leaving camp. Few men are more enthusiastic or successful than Mr. Moir with a cast of flies.

Mr. F. A. Wallace and Mr. H. S. Morris of Wallingford, Conn., have come and gone since our last report. Mr. Wallace is a general favorite in these parts and is an "annual" whose generous good fellowship makes life enjoyable for those who come in contact with him. He is well known in the business world as a successful manufacturer of silver plated wares in his native city.

Mr. J. P. Carpenter of Boston spent a week here recently and had some excellent fly fishing. Mr. Carpenter does not fish in any other way than with flies. He is one of nature's lovers and says that fishing is not the only attraction he finds in camp life. The pure joy of living in the woods away from the turmoil and bustle of artificial life in the cities, near to the God of nature, is delight enough for anyone whose soul is rightly attuned and in harmony with the divine plan.

Mr. Percy Foster and Mr. Perham Foster of Stratton recently spent two days in camp. These estimable young men are well known and are admired for their hustling efforts in securing pupils for the Commercial college at Waterville.

Miss P. Wheaton of New York City is a recent arrival in camp.

Mr. D. A. Williams of Staten Island is also a new arrival. Mr. Williams is connected with the McAlpin Tobacco Manufacturing company as chemist, and is a genial good fellow.

Another of our ever welcome "annuals" has arrived. He was anxiously expected and gladly welcomed—Mr. George M. Gay of Malden, Mass. Mr. Gay was accompanied by Mr. John J. Kelley and it is expected a new record will soon be made in the catches of the season. This party with S. Longley and John Carville, guides, have gone on a canoe trip up to Spencer gut and stream camping at the dam near Grand falls.

Fishing holds up unusually well in the lake this season and some of the largest catches of the season have been made this month, while the booking for this month and next—as in fact for the entire season—has never been so full since the camps opened for business. It looks like quite a problem for the genial manager, Mr. Fred W. Drew, to give accommodations. However, he is a man of great resources, and we expect him to solve problems.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. L. B. Drummer of Brookline, Mass., are here for a two weeks' stay. Mr. Drummer is a member of the Megantic club and a gentleman used to enjoy nature in wood life. His intention is to start from here on a trip embracing Spencer lake, King and Bartlett and other points, by way of Dead river, Grand falls and Spencer stream. This is one of our special trips away from camp and we think will give great pleasure and satisfaction to this gentleman and his wife. Cliff Wing is to guide them. Cliff is all right and knows how to make it interesting for his people.

KINGFIELD.

(Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.)

KINGFIELD, July 22, 1902.

A party came down from Riverside cottage Monday after passing a few days in camps there. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Butts and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hodgman. They fished some, but cared only to get enough for the table.

Messrs. Fred, Frank and Forrest Cross, Mrs. Frank Cross and her mother, Mrs. Webber, were at Tufts pond a few days last week and fished some. In a short time they secured eighteen good fish.

Messrs. W. S. Dolbier and Eugene Perry took a short trip to Lexington, Hid pond and other fishing places recently. They caught about thirty fish. The stream at Lexington where they had good luck before was nearly dried up and no fish were there. They had a good time camping out and had some fish, too. While they were at Hid pond camping, Perry went to the spring after some water, leaving Mr. Dolbier at the camp. Mr. Dolbier heard Perry shout and he rushed out with whatever he could get hold of for a weapon. Perry said he saw a deer right before him with eyes as big as—well, they looked very, very big. They saw some other nice deer while fishing at the pond. The animal's came out very near to them.

Dr. E. L. Pennell and Robert Saunders went up Rapid stream Saturday and returned well laden with speckled beauties. They took about two hundred.

INFORMATION ASKED.

Commissioners Finding What Our Summer Business Is Worth.

The commissioners of inland fisheries and game have sent out to all who have anything to do with fishing, hunting or the summer resort business around our lakes, circulars asking for information. This information is not in the nature of prying into the business of the different parties, but is to be used for their benefit in showing how much money is brought into the state yearly by those who come here for fishing, hunting or to pass the summer. The information received from the different ones is to be for the sole use of the commissioners.

They ask for the number of guests entertained from outside the state during this year, and whether in farmhouse, hotel, cottage or camp; the number of male and female help employed in consequence of these tourists; the amount paid for the wages of this help; amount received from out-of-the-state boarders; cash invested in boats of all kinds and in hotel or camp equipment; also the number of hunters entertained this year.

Railroad Rumor.

The people in Rangeley are trying to learn from whence came the report that a survey was on for a railroad from Rangeley village to Mountain View. No one seems to know how it started or who was the cause. The rumor had it that this railroad was to touch at Hunter's cove, then swing around Lodge pond and then on to Haines Landing. The report has been heard that men were here for the purpose of surveying and making other necessary arrangements. Nothing whatever can be verified in regard to the matter.

KING AND BARTLETT

(Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.)

SPENCER, July 22, 1902.

Fishing is not as good as it was, but the patient angler who knows the habit of trout and salmon and studies the insect life on and around the water can still lure enough from the spring holes and deep pools to satisfy the most exacting of fishermen. The recent rains and the numerous insects on the water have given the fish so much of their natural food that they do not strike so readily at any old lure thrown at them in any old way.

Spencer stream still continues to be the favorite stream for our guests and the number and size of the trout taken from it is astonishing. Dr. Meyers and son caught, Saturday, as fine a string there as it has ever been my good fortune to see taken from any stream. The smallest that they retained tipped the scales at 3/4 pound and the largest weighed 1 1/2 pounds.

The late arrivals in camp are Charles and Wm. J. Epting, Henry Craig Fleming and Dr. T. D. Myers and son of Philadelphia; Mrs. Frank Ewing, D. J. Clarkson, E. B. Ward and wife, New York; H. Frank, Chicago, and A. B. Howland of Boston.

The beaver here seem to have gotten over their fear of man and swim quite close to the boats at times. Mr. Ward counted four of the little animals yesterday morning.

Young partridges are making their appearance along the roads and trails and from present indications there will be good shooting later on.

Good Fishing at Eustis.

(Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.)

EUSTIS, July 22, 1902.

If anyone wants good fishing and is in any doubt as to whether such can be obtained at Eustis, he has but to ask the guides of this region. Their tales of the fish caught and the pleasures of fishing the rivers near by are of such quality that any sportsman will begin to get his fishing rod ready before the story is half completed.

The South branch of Dead river is surely a good ground for this sport, and seated in a canoe with a guide in the stern, one can certainly enjoy life as he glides down the river. The baskets of trout brought in every day are of all sizes, from 1/2 pound to 2 or 3 pounds. The ease with which they are captured is remarkable; no long, weary tramps, but only the fun of a sail down the river which is nearly as good as landing the trout.

Touring Maine.

Mr. Jas. A. Cruickshank and wife of New York were in Phillips Tuesday night. Mr. Cruickshank is on the editorial staff of Field and Stream and is touring Maine in the interests of the magazine. Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshank will include in their trip, Casco bay, Sebago, Bay of Naples, Rangeley, Belgrade, Moosehead, Bangor & Aroostook territory, Montreal, Lake St. John and Sagway river. The August number of the magazine will be devoted to Maine. The management show commendable energy in providing such features for its columns.

ROD AND GUN CAMP.

At Rod and Gun camp, situated on an island on the east shore of Cupsuptic lake, are Messrs. Dexter Tiffany, Jerry Rice, Harold Dewey, Stewart H. Patterson, James Murray. Their cook is Jas. Stewart and their guides, D. E. Heywood, Milton Niles, Harry Quimby and John Oakes. These gentlemen have been here for some time and many good catches of fish have been taken. Trolling is the only method of fishing employed.

July 17, the south wind seemed favorable to fishermen, and so they tried their luck. The result was Mr. Tiffany's to get a 5 1/4 pound trout and two 4 pound salmon. The trout is being mounted by S. L. Crosby Co.

This party takes excursions up the Kennebec and Cupsuptic rivers and are certainly a very merry party. Messrs. Murray and Patterson, with Harry Quimby as guide, went to Kennebec pond recently and took thirty trout on a fly.

These camps will be occupied the entire season by friends of the owners.

Cottage Notes.

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Norton of Lewiston and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Dill of Port-Hope, Ont., are at Moxie Lodge, Rangeley lake for a few days.

Mr. Emerson McMillan is at his camp on Richardson lake.

The Tuttle party have arrived at Lake Point cottage.

Trade Notes.

Mr. L. B. Fleming of Pittsburg, at the tournament of the North Side Gun club June 24, maintained his title to the championship of Western Pennsylvania, by defeating Mr. W. D. Berger of Alleghany City, who was the challenger. The scores were 93 and 84. Mr. Fleming shot 24 grains of "Infalible."

At Brownsville, Pa., June 25-26, L. B. Fleming of Pittsburg won high average with 93 per cent. Mr. R. S. Deniker of Ruffsale was second both days, and had second general average. Both gentlemen shot 24 grains of "Infalible."

At the tournament of the Mississippi-Louisiana Trap Shooters' league, Sareveport, La., June 17-18, Mr. Ward Erwin of Erwin, Miss., contested the championship with Mr. J. A. Skannal of Sareveport, La. Both broke 47 out of 50 targets, but in the shoot-off, Mr. Erwin ran 25 straight and won. Both gentlemen shot "Infalible."

The team championship match was won by Messrs. Erwin, Blake and Foote of Greenville, Miss., scoring 25, 24 and 21 respectively. The next highest team was Messrs. Skannal, Boiesau and Mercer with scores of 20, 22 and 22. All three gentlemen shot L. & R. "Infalible."

The performance of Mr. Ward Erwin of Erwin, near Greenville, Miss., was truly remarkable. Mr. Erwin not only won the individual championship but also made the highest average in the tournament, 94 1/2 per cent, and was the high man in the championship team.

On the grounds of the Wilmington Country club, Wilmington, Del., the E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. celebrated their one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of their present location. An elaborate display of fireworks made from this company's powder was the event of the evening.

MAINE WOODS is receiving substantial assistance in its endeavor to rid the earth of "fish hogs."

It is a matter that ought to be kept agitated. This is what one sportsman, a yearly visitor to the Rangeley lakes says:

"You are making a good paper. Was glad to read what you had editorially last week about taking a big quantity of fish. I believe that the fishing in the Rangeleys is doomed, and all other Maine waters as fast as they are opened up to easy access, unless stringent action is taken. The sending out of fish is all wrong. Still it is just as bad for the fish to catch and kill them as to send them out. But I do believe that the fact that the fish may be sent out to friends is an incentive to catching them. Legislature should positively regulate the number of fish or pounds of fish that a sportsman can take in a season."

The law now allows ten pounds of fish to be sent out of the state at any one time by each sportsman. This, of course, may be repeated as many times as the person wishes. Should they so desire the fishing of any place might be ruined in a short time. The matter of making more stringent regulations has been agitated for some time, and it is hoped that the next legislature will take decisive action regarding this subject.

The paragraph in another column telling of the blank being sent out by the commissioners of inland fisheries and game is for the purpose of finding out just how much our fish and game and good air are bringing into the pockets of the citizens of the state. There has been a great cry from some quarters, that the state cannot afford to appropriate so much money for the protection of its fish and game, and that the amount given as coming from sportsmen is larger than the facts would warrant. When these figures are all returned they will make a very complete record of the earnings in this line throughout the state. It will doubtless silence many of the people who are continually growling about the appropriations for this industry.

The recent troubles with a few workmen in Rangeley gives us occasion to say that native workmen very often are as satisfactory as those that have to be secured away. It often grates on a man's nerves to have a foreigner brought to his doors to do work that he would like to do, and which he could, in all probability, do as well as the other fellow.

There seems to be considerable apprehension on the part of the sportsmen of Strong lest their favorite trout brooks shall be fished to death. It would seem that there is much likelihood of it if all reports are true. There is no sport in fishing for market and this wholesale fishing will run out a brook in a short time. The closing of the brooks for a part of the week has been successful in Andover, and might be so in other places where excessive fishing is practiced.

North Freeman.

The hay makers can take a rest. We think some of the June grass will get well ripened before it is cut.

Several in our vicinity have been on the sick list the past week, Hannah Hackett, Phil Ripley, Harlan and Riley Durrell. We are glad to report them all better.

Ada Durrell is doing housework for Mrs. Chas. Dolbier.

Capt. Zenas Vaughan is visiting his sister, Mrs. Hulda Bradbury.

Luther Turner of Weld is helping his father, Chas. Turner, through haying.

Miss Avis Tash is at home from Dr. Pennell's during the hay season.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

At the Union church the pulpit was occupied by Rev. O. W. Peterson. Two passages of scripture were chosen as the basis of the sermon: John vi, 66, "From that time many of his disciples went back and walked no more with him;" and Luke iv, 20, "And rose up, and thrust him out of the city, and led him unto the brow of the hill whereon their city was built, that they might cast him down headlong."

Sometimes in walking along the fields the foot will push aside a stone and numbers of insects will be seen in frantic haste to escape from the light thus suddenly thrown upon them. Again a log or fragment of wood will be moved and weak, unnatural looking plants will be discovered. In a little time we shall see that these plants are reaching upward toward the light, have taken on a new color and are becoming more straight and strong. These two illustrations from nature will serve to remind us of the dual forces constantly at strife in our own natures; the force of evil and error shunning the light; the force of goodness and truth seeking the light. From the lowest to the highest forms of life this conflict is being waged. Plants and the lower animals cannot modify or govern their choices. Given certain conditions and their natures compel inevitable results. But when we reach the plane of human existence a new factor appears. It is the will, the free will of the human soul. Man must accept or reject the light and the right as he shall choose for himself. Thus it has always been. Thus it is described in that forcible parable in the third chapter of Genesis.

The Jews in the days of Christ's earthly life chose to reject him. There is no more pathetic picture in all history than that of Jesus looking down upon the loved city of Jerusalem and weeping as he said he would have gathered its people to himself but they would not have it so. It is equally true that many reject him today. It is well to ask what are the causes of this rejection. The first steps toward rejecting him may often be found in matters that seem to be of small moment. We are careless about little things, we do not walk consistently with the knowledge we have, and our own inconsistencies form the first step.

It is a law of the human mind that we become indifferent to that which we neglect. Our wilful carelessness then paves the way for the second step—indifference. Following still the laws of the mind we see that doubt enters concerning those things in which we do not interest and about which we do not inform ourselves. We have, then, the third step, unbelief. The fourth step, complete rejection, follows easily. No soul has rejected Christ because it has tested him and found him false. The rejection is along these lines, inconsistency, indifference, unbelief, rejection. It follows the exercise of the will; and from the responsibility of the choice there is no escape. We must each meet its results.

In the Methodist church Rev. John A. Ford preached from 1 Cor., 10, 12, "Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall."

In every pursuit of life there should always be a careful preparation for the work that is before. The sturdy guide over the mountains makes careful arrangements for his journey, then is watchful of the way. The pilot of the harbor knows all the rocks and shoals, the twists and turns of the channel; he does not rely upon his past luck, but watches every turn of the wheel—so that the ship and the lives entrusted to his care may be safe.

So the Christian should make careful preparation for his life journey from earth to Heaven never stopping to rest upon his laurels, but always advancing upward with no uncertain step.

Overconfidence causes the wreck of many a vessel, train and life. We want to be sure we are all right before we go ahead. When the Christian begins to think he is a pretty good fellow and has done a lot of good so that he can rest easy, then it is time for him to study this text.

Many times men are deceived. They think they are all right when they are all wrong. It makes a big difference whether you look from the worldly side or the Christ side. Paul thought he was doing God's will until the revelation came to him on the Damascus road. We may be able to make ourselves believe we are all right; we may deceive our friends so that they will look to us as upright men, but we cannot for one moment deceive God "who knoweth the very thoughts and intents of the heart." Therefore let us keep the example of Jesus ever before us so that we may know what to do under all circumstances.

AMONG THE FARMERS.

Miss Georgine Wilbur One of the Successful Orchardists.

Aims to Have Apples Packed So They Will Keep.

PHILLIPS, July 22, 1902.

To the Editor of the Maine Woods:

While the farmers of North Franklin are being mentioned in MAINE WOODS, it must not be forgotten that Phillips boasts of a lady who is as successful a farmer as any of the brethren. Those who have ridden on the Weld road have noticed a fine looking orchard as they neared Blake hill.

This is owned by Miss Georgine Wilbur of Avon. She set out the first trees there in 1886. Though they have not been in bearing but a very few years, they have shown that they appreciate good care. There are about 500 trees in the orchard, mostly Baldwins, though there are some Ben Davis, Bellflower and others.

One thing is done in this orchard that is done in few orchards around here. The trees are regularly sprayed, and Miss Wilbur thinks this is a great advantage to the fruit. The apples sent from this orchard bring as good prices as can be obtained for any, and she thinks that this practice has much to do with it. She says that if the farmers here would spray more she thinks the fruit would be freer from worms and have a much finer appearance, besides increasing the crop.

Great care is taken to pack the apples so that they will keep. They are packed as soon as picked, all the work being done in the orchard. The first quality are all placed into the barrels by hand so that not a bruise shall be made on one of them. The second quality are placed into the barrel from the basket, but great care is exercised not to bruise them at all. The first two layers are faced so that they will pack better. After this is done the apples are put into the cellar and are not touched until they are to be sent to market.

It has been Miss Wilbur's aim to see if the apples may not be kept for a long time. She has been very pleasantly rewarded in her efforts, for when the apples are packed for shipment it is seldom that any are found to have been injured.

Miss Wilbur understands the markets and knows where the various apples are best marketed. The Bellflower is the apple for the Quaker city, while New York people are very fond of the Rhode Island Greening. If Bellflowers are sent to New York, the merchants send them directly to Philadelphia, without trying to sell them in Gotham.

The first year that the trees bore any to speak of, Miss Wilbur was not able to go to the orchard and witness the harvesting. This was a great disappointment to her as she enjoys that part of her farming especially.

William Leavitt has the care of the farm for her, and right carefully does he look out for it. He takes a pride in having everything clean around the place, and for a model orchard one needs only to go and have Mr. Leavitt show him around the place.

STRONG.

[Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.]

STRONG, July 22, 1902.

Rev. W. W. Hooper, state missionary of the Universalist society, preached in the Congregational church, Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. His theme was "Sunday Observance" and he asked and answered the question, "Does a man lose anything who does not go to church?"

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gilman passed through town last week en route for Kingfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Walker, missionaries in Africa, are still in town visiting friends. Listening to the account of their life one is forcibly reminded that one-half the world knows little of how the other half live. Mr. Walker preached in Wilton Sunday.

Frank Bell and Loyde Pratt went to the Gilkey stream fishing Saturday. They came home with a fine string of trout.

There was a social dance at the hall Saturday evening which was well attended. Jones's orchestra furnished music.

George Burns has gone to Chesterville to work for his uncle, Wilfred Partridge, haying.

Miss Alice Vaughan is visiting friends in Boothbay.

South Strong.

R. Hanley Smith had quite an exciting time with honey bees the other day. It seems a cow got into the house containing the beehives, and of course the bees were mortally offended. They at once proceeded to make things lively for the cow, and Mr. Smith, rushing to the rescue, they made things warm for him. The cow was stung so many times that an expert accountant would have brain fog long before he could finish counting the stings. Mr. Smith came gaily off, however, with only two or three hundred stings on his face, body and hands.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Pratt left for their home in Iowa City, Iowa, Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Herman S. Spear of New Portland called on Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Conant the first of the week.

Wm. H. Hunter had quite an ill turn Sunday.

T. G. Sanborn is now so much better as to be able to be out doors in fine weather. All are glad to see Mr. Sanborn out again.

Miss Lorette Johnson is visiting relatives in Lynn, Mass.

A Swede from Connecticut has hired with W. F. Haines through haying.

Miss Blanche Foster of Strong is working for Mrs. Wm. Tarbox.

Allie Norton is haying for Mr. J. B. Knowlton.

Sidney Darling of Savannah, Ga., is working for Roy Atkinson through haying.

Miss Blanche Presson will visit in Port and next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Dow of Strong are with Mr. and Mrs. James T. Skillings through haying.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wheelden of Farmington have moved to the farm owned by Richard Burns, for the summer.

Do we need all this rain? Ask this question of a hay maker and see what he says.

SAM FARMER'S LETTER.

Chat About the Crops In the West.

What Some of the Maine People Are Doing.

ARKANSAS CITY, KAN., July 14, 1902.

To the Editor of the Maine Woods:

The weather here so far has been remarkably fine with very little excessive heat. The recent rains in this section were sufficient to insure a bountiful corn crop, while in other portions of the state very heavy rains have fallen and swollen the Arkansas and Walnut rivers out of their banks. Much damage to railroads and crops is reported in many places. Wheat and oats are harvested and are now coming in to market in a moderate way. The wheat is of poor quality and less in quantity than was expected. Oats are a very heavy crop, but somewhat injured by the wet during the harvest. Sweet corn, now at its best, is bountiful and very fine. Potatoes are also very fine and nearly equal to Maine and Colorado in yield and quality. Our market is flooded with all kinds of vegetables and small fruits, including apples, peaches, melons and plums.

Bert Worthingley is among his old friends in Maine and can speak for himself. I would like very much to be there with him, were it not for those pesky colts, probably I should. All our Maine people are in their usual good health and prosperity.

I have just received a call from a former Maine man in the person of Theron R. Houghton, who came from Weld about 30 years ago to Emporia, Kansas, and later to Arkansas City, where he now lives. He says he has visited his native state quite frequently and enjoys the summers there very much. He spends a part of his time when there at the islands around Harpswell and the balance at Weld and the Rangeley lakes. He enjoys trout fishing very much and expects to continue his visits there as long as his health will permit. Mrs. Houghton's name was Newman, a cousin to A. A. Newman, one of the most popular business men in this city. They have only two daughters, the older soon to graduate from a musical college in Boston. She will then commence teaching the same science. The younger, about 16 years old, is at home.

Mr. Houghton is well fixed. He owns and lives in one of the finest residences near the center of this city and has other rents in the city that pay over $100 a month. Besides, he owns 1,500 acres of farming lands only a few miles from this city. They are fine people and are respected by everybody here.

Should the time ever come when our government owns and operates the railroads there will be crowds of people here who would go to Maine in summer and California in winter, as the distance is the same, and the health of the people would be greatly improved by so doing.

SAM FARMER.

In Maine.

A maiden who belongs to one of the best families in Knox county, asks the Rockland Opinion to print the following sage questions:

"Why do the young men of Friendship do so much loafing? Go to work! Push ahead! I am but a young girl; I have clothed myself and got money in the bank, and am only 16 years old. I lay up more money every year of my life than any boy or man within a radius of three miles of my home. When they get a dollar they go to a dance and go home a dollar out. My father is able to support me, but I choose to support myself. I advise all girls to cut clear of those loafing boys. Give them a wide berth, and never marry a man unless he is able to support you. And never put your arm through the handle of a rum jug."

The annual examination of teachers for State schools will begin on Friday, Aug. 29. That "played out"—"done up" feeling makes life miserable for every sufferer from kidney ills, backaches, headaches and urinary troubles, painful and annoying.

bring new life and activity, remove the pain and cure the cause, from common backache to dangerous diabetes.

Mr. L. T. Wilson, sailmaker on Market street, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I contracted a very bad cold which affected me in the lungs and in the upper part of the chest, causing distressing lameness, some urinary difficulty and I was quite over my trouble. I gave the balance of my box to a friend, and there was plenty to cure him, although neither of us are very lightweight. I am prepared from my personal experience and from their effects on others to highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. You can refer to me."

IF YOU ARE SICK

And need medicine for your Kidneys, Liver, Bladder or Blood, get the Best.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

If you are suffering from kidney or bladder disease, the doctor asks: "Do you desire to urinate often, and are you compelled to get up frequently during the night? Does your back pain you? Does your urine stain linen? Is there a scalding pain in passing it, and is it difficult to hold the urine back? If so, your kidneys or bladder are diseased."

Try putting some of your urine in a glass tumbler, let it stand twenty-four hours. If there is a sediment, or a cloudy, milky appearance, your kidneys are sick. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will surely relieve and cure the most distressing cases of these dread diseases, and no physician can prescribe a medicine that equals it for kidney, liver, bladder and blood diseases, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation.

Walter D. Miller, of Delhi, N. Y., writes:

"I suffered for years with kidney trouble and severe pains in my back, at times it was so bad I could hardly walk. My stomach also troubled me and I frequently had twinges of rheumatism. I suffered a great deal and received no benefit until I began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. After taking it a short while it cured me."

It is for sale by all druggists in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose. Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y.

MILL NOTES.

Young Fox Turned Black While In Captivity.

Pulled Chain Out of Collar and Made His Escape.

PHILLIPS, July 22, 1902.

To the Editor of the Maine Woods:

Holman's mill did not run last week on account of needed repairs. The week before the mill cut out 25,000 per day. A purse of $50 was made up recently by the mill hands and Mr. Lockhart and presented to Mr. Holman as an expression of sympathy for him in his recent accident. All speak in high terms of appreciation of the manner in which he and his estimable wife are treating them. Mr. Holman's foot is healing very rapidly and we hope to see him soon again doing business in his usual bustling way.

Mr. Fred Mitchell saws laths at Holman's mill. He informs us that he manufactures 10,000 per day, single handed.

Fred also tells us that Mr. Welch of Phillips gave his wife a young fox which he and his dog caught while fencing. Shortly after Mrs. Mitchell carried the fox home, he changed his color to a perfect black. Mrs. Mitchell bought a brass collar and a chain and in less than one hour after she put the collar and chain on, the fox pulled the chain out of the collar and made his escape, taking the collar with him. Mrs. Mitchell is the daughter of the late John Bachelder and she has met with quite a loss in her pet, as he would have been worth $75 or $100 next fall. Let the local hunters or trappers, should they secure such a prize wearing a brass collar or showing signs of wearing a collar, present Mrs. Fred Mitchell with a $5 bill which would be honorable and fair.

A good growth of grass, but a poor season to harvest it. All grain and food crops are looking fine.

Willie Hardy and family, who have been stopping at Wm. F. Calden's, have gone to W. D. to visit his brother.

G. L. and Bert Kempton have built a barn and are doing their buying on the border.

Rangeley Man Victim of Some Slick Fellows.

Some time ago a man living in Rangeley received a letter bearing a New York postmark. The letter informed him that a certain organization from that place had on hand a large amount of counterfeit money, one and ten-dollar greenbacks. The writer claimed to be an expert engraver and to have worked for years in the employ of the government.

By some means he had got hold of some government plates, so he claimed, and had produced one and ten-dollar bills that would bear the closest inspection. He wanted this Rangeley man to become his agent in this section of the country. The letter was read and burned up as worthless and nothing more was thought about it until some time later when a second letter was received offering about fifty per cent profit and promising to make a rich man of him in a short time if he would take hold of the scheme.

During this time another man in Rangeley had received a letter containing practically the same information and holding out the same inducements, but this letter came from Philadelphia. No doubt the same gang were working both men. A meeting place was appointed and every effort made to get this second man to meet the makers of green goods and examine them. It was no use. He could not be tempted and exposed the schemes, showing the letters.

Before this, the first man who had sent some money for a bundle of greenbacks, received what was supposed to be one and ten-dollar bill, but so poor an imitation that no one would attempt to pass them.

Children Burned About the Head and Hands.

(Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.)

KINGFIELD, July 23, 1902.

Zora Bachelder and Allie Williams of North Freeman were severely burned about the face and hands yesterday. Mr. Witham had recently purchased a farm in North Freeman and had moved onto it but a short time before. They were engaged in clearing up rubbish in the stable when they came across a pail which contained some unknown substance. This exploded when it was taken away and the children, who were standing near, were burned. There was no fire connected with it. Their eyes and hair were considerably damaged. The attending physician, Dr. Simons, has hopes to bring them out of it all right. Zora is about 3 years old and Allie about 11. Mr. Bachelder was at work in Madrid when the accident occurred.

Reports from Zora Bachelder and Allie Witham, who were injured in an explosion Tuesday, show that they are doing as well as can be expected. At the last visit the little girl had not had her eyes open.

Another case of scarlet fever has developed, Philip Porter having come down with it.

Says It Is Not So.

FAIRBANKS, July 23, 1902.

To the Editor of the Maine Woods:

I noticed in the last issue of your valuable paper the following item in the Fairbanks news:

"There is a man here who seemingly desires to see all there is going on around him. He has built him an observatory in an apple tree, whence (through a spyglass) he can look into all the dooryards in his immediate neighborhood."

The above item is a libel on this community as no such thing exists. If intended as a literary production it is of a low order; if as a news item, it lacks one essential element—truth. I think your correspondent must have used the spyglass of which she speaks to locate the observatory, as nothing of the kind is visible to the naked eye.

There is no one in this community who really has any desire to look into his neighbors' dooryards and surely people ought not to do anything in their dooryards of which they have reason to feel ashamed.

FARMINGTON NEWS.

Petitions Circulated Asking Governor Not to Pardon.

Contested Will Cases Appealed to Supreme Judicial Court.

(Special correspondence to the Maine Woods.)

FARMINGTON, July 22, 1902.

A good deal of interest has been developed, especially in the southern part of the county, over the attempt to secure a pardon for Walter Moore of Wilton.

He was sentenced to the state prison for life, having plead guilty to striking down and robbing H. Stinson Houghton of that town, Dec. 22, 1888. It seems that he was a young man of about 30 years and he met Mr. Houghton just as he turned from the main street to take another for home. This is said to have happened about 9.30 in the evening. He is said to have taken a batstick and knocked the other down and taking from his person money and checks to the amount of about $500. The crime is characterized as one of the most brutal and cruel that has happened in this county.

A great many petitions have been circulated in the county, asking the governor and council not to pardon this man. It is said that in Wilton there were but five men who had an opportunity to sign the petition but did sign it. A particularly strong petition went in from Farmington.

The hearing is set for today, and County Attorney Wing and Hon. J. C. Holman, have gone down to oppose the pardon. Moore's interests are looked out for by Judge W. C. Philbrook of Waterville.

At the last term of Probate court two contested will cases developed. The wills of Mary McLaughlin, late of Industry, and of Lydia A. Tuck, late of Temple, were the bones of contention.

Lydia A. Tuck, died Feb. 2, 1902, leaving her property, which was valued at about $2,500, to be divided equally between her sisters, Mary M. Mosher of Wilton and Sarah P. Brackley of Temple. The will states that she kindly remembers other relatives but does not feel as if she could help them more. The will is contested by Mrs. Chas. A. Gould, a niece, and Jos. H. Tuck, a brother. The former is represented by E. E. Richards, Esq., and the latter by Jos. C. Holman, Esq.

Mary McLaughlin died Apr. 28, 1902, leaving property valued at about $1,500. She willed one half to her sister, Susanah Johnson, and the other half to be equally divided between her nieces and nephews, Clara I. Webber, Sarah McFarlane, George Bumpus, Fred Steward and Willie Steward. E. E. Richards, Esq., has charge of the case for the contestants.

Since it has been known that Company K is to march to Augusta this year to attend muster, it has been found that they will have to do the marching on Sunday. This has been taken note of by persons who would not wish the state to make its servants break the Sabbath, and an effort is being made to have other arrangements. On the other hand it is said that Sunday is the only day in which they could start and get to Augusta Monday noon, as they have to do.

A black dog belonging to Mr. A. Gerry is said to have bitten Mrs. Rose Lambert a few days ago.

Mr. J. A. Linscott has just returned from the New York market with a new line of goods. He has a well filled store that shows a good variety of goods. He has taken a partner into the concern, Mr. Wallace J. Gould. The firm name is now Linscott & Gould.

Mr. Chas. E. Wheeler has remodelled the interior of his rod making room. The inside has been sanded and painted, making a very neat and attractive apartment.

Rev. E. R. Smith goes on his vacation next week. He expects to put in a month at the seashore and in the mountains. It is hoped that Rev. Dr. Noble will occupy the pulpit August 3.

Elder Truman of Kingfield held a meeting here last Sunday. A few from Stratton attended.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wyman are going to The Chimes to work Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers are going to Deer pond to work for A. B. Douglass.

Mr. C. B. Gordon and son Leland have gone to Wilton to work through haying.

Mrs. A. S. Douglas, who has been away visiting, returned home Saturday.

Mr. Percy Day has built a hay shed across the river from the mill.

Mr. George L. Smith was in town recently.

Mr. Mial Norton from Flagstaff was in town Sunday.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of the scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit the sufferers who may not be within easy access of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer time.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips; E. H. Whitney, Rangeley; C. E. ## TAKEN BY INDIANS.

Stolen by White Man and Sold to the Mohawks.

Found by Sisters After Being Lost Twenty Years.

While very few people are living here who knew, at the time, of the carrying away by the Indians of Joseph Wilbur, there are many who are more or less cognizant of the facts. Mr. Wilbur's visit to Phillips a short time ago was told in these columns. He had not been here before since he was 2 years old. Mr. Wilbur is a man now over 78 years of age, but he carries himself as many a man of less years would be glad to do.

When Mr. Wilbur was 2 years old, his parents lived up in Madrid in what is known as the Gore. It was Saturday morning that he was lost. His sisters had gone out into the opening to get some potatoes for breakfast. He had got up a little hungry and cross and his mother had cooked him an egg. He went out to the door to cool it. All that was heard from him was a single cry. His sisters heard it but thought nothing of it. They came back and made diligent search, but without avail. Searching parties were organized and they scoured the woods in all directions for the missing boy.

At the time, a Quarterly meeting was in session at Phillips and someone came out and notified the worshippers on Sunday morning of the loss and many of them went up to assist in the search. The only one of the searching party who is now alive, so far as known, is Lorenzo Whitney of Madrid, who is 94 years old.

There had been, up in that section, a man by the name of Robbins, around whose name clustered all kinds of unpleasant rumors, one being that he had killed one or more men. It was found that he had taken this boy and had carried him up into Canada, as he was a hunter, and remained in one place but a short time. Doubtless the care of the child had become burdensome, and he was ready to dispose of him whenever he had a chance.

The story goes that he fell in with some of the Mohawk Indians. They were surprised to find that he had a little child with him and asked what he was going to do with him. He told them that if they wanted to buy him he would sell him, otherwise he would cut him up for martin bait. The most of them were willing for the boy to be disposed of in that manner, except one old squaw, who seemed to have compassion on the little fellow. She offered to buy him, and a trade was made whereby he was exchanged for a small value of furs.

He then had to follow these Indians in their travels, and, as he grew older, became practically an Indian, except that he was lighter of skin. For nineteen years was he with them, and many a hard time did he have with his "owners." He had been named James, and when the Indians had him, he was called James White, doubtless on account of his color.

At the time of his capture, "Aunt" Anna Beal was five years of age, and she well remembers the incidents connected with the event. Her father and brothers went in the searching party after him. Later, she went to Saco to work in the mill. Mr. Wilbur's sisters were working for the same corporation, but not in the same mill. A few years after the boy's disappearance his parents moved to Bethel.

About this time a family of Indians came just outside of the city of Saco and made and sold baskets and Indian relics. It had been noticed that there was a young white man among them. One Sunday about 200 from the mills went down to see them. In the number were Mrs. Beal and the sisters of the lad, though they were unacquainted at the time.

The sisters thought he looked like their father about him. Though they talked with the young man, he would not believe their story. Of course, the girls had told the people they were with in Saco about having lost a brother, and they had told them of this young man with the Indian family.

When the young man's father heard of him he came down from Bethel. The Indians had, in the meantime, moved to Cape Elizabeth. As the father was crossing the bridge one day he met the boy with his load of baskets. The young man would not believe that he was the son of the other. Finally, after he had gone, the father told the gate keeper of the bridge that if he would get the other to his home, even if he remained only five minutes, he would give him $40. This was enough inducement so that the bridegroom tried his best.

After some time the young man was induced to go to Bethel. He was "fixed all up" and sent on his journey. He little thought that he was on his way to his parents, though he was assured of it by the one who induced him to go.

On reaching Bethel his mother picked him out of a crowd of about twenty persons she did not know. Though surprised at this she was not convinced. Then his mother said, "If you are my son that was lost, you have a mark of a strawberry on the little toe of your left foot. There is also a scar on your left arm." As he had both these marks he felt sure that they were right and he remained with them. The Indians were much angry and for many years tried to get hold of him to kill him. He says he doesn't know as they would kill him now, but there were many years during which he was in danger of his life.

While he was living as an Indian, Mr. Wilbur married a squaw. After he went to live with his parents, he tried to have his wife live with him, but she would not. She was in Bethel for awhile, during which time they had to let the young couple live out in a tent in the woods by themselves. Later, it is understood, the squaw ran away.

As no tidings came to the family of the lost boy, they naturally thought they would never see him again, so when another little one came into the family and asked for a name, he was given the name of the missing boy. When the lost was found, he took the name of Joseph, which name he has since kept.

In a short time, Mr. Wilbur went back to Saco to work in the mill where Mrs. Beal was at work. She used to see him and talk with him every day and told him all about the disappearance and about the people of the town. He continued to work there the most of the time until about two years ago, when he retired to the farm of seventeen acres which he owns just outside of the city.

Mr. Wilbur soon married again and lived with his wife for over 30 years. His wife died about the time he left the mill. His daughter and her husband are living with him on his farm and are taking care of the farm.

Seldom does he see a sick day, and at the age of 78 he is as hale and hearty as many men at 60.

RURAL FREE DELIVERY.

Inspector Brock Makes Tour Over the Routes.

Pleased With the Promptness of the Carriers.

Mr. H. E. Brock has been passing a week or more in inspecting the rural free delivery routes of Franklin county.

He has, as his section, New York state and New England, but is kept the most of the time in his native state, New Hampshire. Mr. Brock is clerk of the New Hampshire house of representatives and he says, with some pride, that he is clerk for the largest legislative body in the world with the exception of the English house of commons. This body has 397 members, more, it will be noticed, than the national house.

Mr. Brock is much pleased with the workings of the routes in Franklin county, though the people along the routes do not take hold of them as it was thought they would when they were established. The patrons are well pleased with the service, and opposition seems to be decreasing.

He is more than pleased with the regularity of the carriers. They have an exact time for being at every house and they keep it. It is seldom that they vary three minutes from it, and they are never five minutes out of the way. The people who have boxes tell him that they know just when to expect the carriers to get to their boxes. The time set for them to arrive at the Phillips post office is 12:20 and they come in and register each day at just that time.

Mr. Brock has completed the inspection of the county routes this week. There are three starting from Phillips, two from Strong and five from Farmington. He finds Postmasters Haley, Walker and Moor enthusiastic over the workings and prospects of the routes.

He states that where the rural deliveries have been tried they have resulted in more reading being done by those living along the routes. More newspapers have been taken and the people have become much better informed. The percentage is far greater than anyone would imagine. He gave instances where the percentage was up in the thousands.

The post office authorities have adopted more stringent regulations in regard to the boxes used by the patrons of the rural free delivery routes. Every precaution is to be used that they may have the best service and that the boxes shall be the safest. The manufacturers have to submit a sample of the box they wish to have used to the department and if it is considered to be suitable, they are authorized to stencil on the box "Approved by the Postmaster General." The penalty for tampering with one of the boxes has already been given in these columns. Uncle Sam deals severely with anyone found meddling with them.

While Mr. Brock was here he went into camp with Postmaster Haley, spending a short time and doing a little fishing. The fish were well disposed to him, though he was not after more than enough for camp use.

Major Dill's Funeral.

PHILLIPS, July 21, 1902.

To the Editor of the Maine Woods:

From a letter written by Mrs. Cora Estey to a member of her family, the following description of the last funeral rites of Major Dill will be of interest among Phillips readers:

The day of the funeral, May 22, was a beautiful day. Services were held in the Congregational church, the sermon by Rev. Mr. Washburn. The sermon was one which many called the best they had ever heard. It was of an historical nature; the period of history that occurred during Major Dill's life being brought out very forcibly with the fact that he had lived through so many years of this nation's existence. The church was most beautifully decorated and the graves of Mrs. Dill, who died some years since—as well as that of our former friend and townsman, Major Dill, were entirely hidden with white roses, sweet peas and parlez gollimus, the word "Mother" being in purple flowers. The Masonic service was given at the grave by a delegation from Santa Cruz lodge. The casket was a fine one and on it was several Masonic emblems. D. F. H.

Reception to Pastor.

The Ladies' Social union gave to Mr. O. W. Peterson, pastor of the Congregationalist church, a reception, Friday evening, at the home of Hon. and Mrs. Joel Wilbur. Their effort to introduce their new pastor was certainly very successful, for a good number came together for this purpose.

A very pleasant evening was passed in sociability—it could not have been otherwise with such perfect entertainers as Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur, Miss Wilbur and the ladies of the union. Mrs. J. W. Brackett introduced the guests to Mr. Peterson. Mrs. A. L. Pratt served punch. Before the hour for departing came, all united in singing a few familiar hymns.
